What impact can your gift make?

"I've never had a teddy bear before."

Michelle is 5 years old and recently entered foster care after years of being neglected at home. She's never received a gift, even on her birthday. Help give Michelle the number one item on her wish list: a teddy bear she has already named "Mimi."

"I want him to believe in Santa."

Richard and his little brother were placed in foster care last year just before the holidays. His foster parents told him they wanted to give him an allowance that he could save or spend on whatever he wanted. But Richard asked his foster parents if he could use his new allowance to buy gifts for his little brother. "I want to leave him lots of toys under the tree so that he knows Santa can still find us. I want him to believe in Santa."

HELP US MAKE THE HOLIDAYS BRIGHTER

For many of us, the holidays are a time of abundance, warmth and family togetherness. But for children in foster care, this time of year often serves as an excruciating reminder that they won't be "home for the holidays" with their families.

What impact can a gift card make?

"We want to give them their first holiday meal."

Sheila and John are new foster parents. They are both teachers and have agreed to foster children who are the hardest to place, those with special needs. This month, little Joseph arrived at their home with nothing but a few belongings in a trash bag and his wheelchair. Joseph's siblings, Nora and Mia, arrived soon after. Help Sheila and John purchase the ingredients for their first holiday meal as an expanded family.

"I want to give my little sister a gift this year."

Tenesha and Tara are not only sisters, they are best friends. They are thriving in their new foster home. When Tenesha's foster mother offered to buy her a new backpack for school, Tenesha asked if she could save the money instead, because "I want my little sister to get a present under the tree this year."
